Dear [Redacted]

CIA has reviewed the page from (1) Papers Relating to Joint Army-Navy Communication Intelligence Activities, 1945-1946, which you sent us on 8 January 1985 in your letter Serial No. T54-005-85 and (2) the page from "Army-Navy Communication Intelligence Coordinating Committee, Minutes of Meetings, 18 April 1944 to 12 December 1954, which you sent us also on 8 January 1985 in your letter Serial No. T54-006-85. We have determined that CIA has no objection to the release of either page.

Sincerely,

ANNEX D-2 (CONT'D)

(e) All unsorted traffic from sources other than [redacted] or [redacted] etc. [redacted] be directed first to Joint Traffic Identification Center for identification and further distribution to the unit responsible for processing.

(f) It is desirable that the center be provided with the technical aids and personnel necessary to accomplish its function. However, either service may be called upon to assist as may be practicable in preliminary analyses of systems or other necessary work.

7. To function adequately the "Joint Allocation Control" will require complete current information from all processing centers concerning (1) available mechanical, personnel and space facilities; (2) available special talents; (3) training needs; (4) progress on assignments; (5) crypto-intelligence; (6) identification data; (7) agreements; and (8) policy. It is inherent in the proposal that the "Joint Allocation Control" shall expect each service to furnish essential information promptly, completely and regularly.

Dear

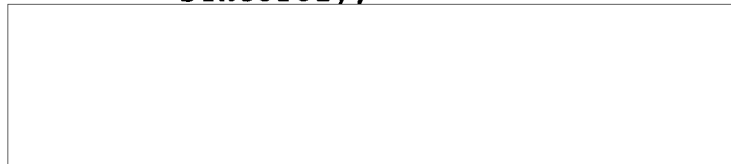

Reference is made to my letter, Serial T54-239-84, dated 23 November 1984, which requested a review of material we are proposing to release in our Special Research History series. The subject of the file is "Army-Navy Communication Intelligence Coordinating Committee, Minutes of Meetings, 18 April 1944 to 12 December 1945."

The Navy has discovered additional material on this subject, which we are adding to our proposed release. I am enclosing a page which makes reference to the F.B.I.S., and request that you review it for releasability.

Inform Secretariat as in relation of subject matter of proposed Continuation of the Executive Order of 1954 regarding the Termination of U.S. Civil Service Activities Under the Army and Navy - (Section 1, Part A, Item 11).

General Clarke said that the two memoranda included in the minutes of 12 September (Enclosures (C) and (D)) will have to be kept in abeyance temporarily because the President is waiting for final Congressional approval of his proposed reorganization of the federal government. He added that the [redacted] [redacted]

He felt that ANCICC should be responsible for monitoring foreign broadcasts in the future. General Clarke suggested that the support of the President for Army and Navy cryptanalytic activities might be sought through a naval channel. General Clarke reported that, although the FBI ostensibly is withdrawing from activities outside the Western Hemisphere, recently it had attempted to enter and extend its influence in the intelligence field in various countries. Captain Wenger said that ANCICC should insist that the British deal only with ANCICC in ULTRA matters, and all members agreed that this provision should be included in the new agreement. Captain Smedberg stated that such a condition should be laid down in this matter just as had been done with [redacted]. General Clarke pointed out, however, that the British have not sent a formal reply agreeing point by point with our proposals in [redacted] and, therefore, the point should be discussed with Sir Edward Travis when he arrives.

General Clarke said that ANCICC is in a strong position with the State Department because all the intelligence activities in the State Department are coordinated by Mr. McCormack. Captain Wenger added the caution that this favorable situation may not continue indefinitely. General Clarke stated that Mr. McCormack is attempting to bring together various intelligence units, and has been directed to have ready by 1 January legislation creating a single intelligence agency, although he does not favor a central intelligence agency.
